

P3 Comforts – perfect comfort that is perfectly cool

With the P3 Comforts complete bathroom range, Duravit and Phoenix Design have created a modern concept of comfort for a young, sporty target group without compromising on design.

Tom Schönherr, co-founder of the design studio Phoenix Design: "When it comes to comfort, people's needs go far beyond the purely physical aspects. With sensuous and practical design, it is possible to create a sense of calm and security in the intimacy of the bathroom." For P3 Comforts, simple geometric forms have been modified to render them aesthetically calming, so it should be no surprise that the range blends naturally into our living environment.

The details are impressive: the raised tap platform on the washbasin – visually separated from the wet area yet still part of the harmonious whole – serves as a generous shelf surface for bathroom essentials. The broad basin appears almost rimless, while the volume of its interior has been maximised to provide greater freedom of movement. The clear-cut design ensures there are no unwelcome light reflections. Another practical feature is the pronounced depth of the basin, which optimises draining and facilitates cleaning. The asymmetric washbasin also offers additional storage space on the left or right of the basin, adding an interesting creative touch.

The design of the toilet and bidet blends in seamlessly with the style of the washbasins. Additional width makes sitting noticeably more comfortable. The set-back area of the bidet offers plenty of room for the tap fittings while also serving as shelf space. A number of the toilet models are rimless, with an open design of the flushing rim, which makes cleaning easier. In addition, wall-mounted and floor-standing toilets can also be combined with the especially flat SensoWash Slim shower-toilet seat.

The rimless look and large radii at the front also maximise the inner volume of the bathtub. The wide, clearly defined bathtub rim offers space for tap fittings and bathing essentials. The optional neck rest lives up to the range's name, cushioning the neck whilst also supporting the bather's head. It is also possible to equip the bathtub with a whirl system, such as the new Combi-L featuring swivel massage jets that deliver stimulation and relaxation in equal measure.

The special shower trays blend in beautifully with the overarching design of the P3 Comforts range. The easy-clean outlet has been perfectly integrated into the raised platform, emphasising the clear lines. In combination with the Open Space B shower enclosure it creates the ideal shower area. The shower trays can be installed flush with the floor, semi-recessed or on the floor tiles with or without a support frame. The design was created with the new DuraSolid A material, which offers class B slip-resistance without additional coating. This provides a high level of safety and is one of the requirements for public shower areas and pool edges. The shower stool that is available as an accessory is quite versatile, serving as a design object, seat and shelf space that offers comfort and safety while opening up an entirely new experience: showering while seated.

For more information about this press release contact Esprit PR Ltd on Tel: 01428 714546 or Email: info@espritpr.com

The tap platform of P3 Comforts separates the wet and dry areas and provides generous surface area for bathroom essentials

The broad basin appears almost rimless, while the volume of its interior has been maximised to provide greater freedom of movement.

The design of the toilet and bidet blends in seamlessly with the style of the washbasins. Additional width makes sitting noticeably more comfortable.

The shower stool also offers shelf space and serves as an attractive design object in the shower.

P3 Comforts shower tray is made from the innovative new DuraSolid® material

The asymmetrical vanity basin (1050mm width) offers a generous surface area on either left or right

The built-in bath tub reflects the P3 Comforts flowing forms and gentle transitions

The rimless look and large radii at the front maximise the inner volume of the bathtub.